HEAVY SHOWERS DO DAMAGE

Heavy showers during the night caused much damage in this part of the county. Just north of Orleans sections of the railroad track were washed out and further north in Coventry more track was damaged and both north and south bound trains were held up for hours and finally transferred passengers and mail. Highway bridges and culverts were washed away in several places and the storm caused damage that left the Barton electric plant unable to furnish power until nearly nine o'clock this morning. The showers were by far the worst of the season and have swelled the streams to freshet height.

Mrs. Ann F. Baldwin.

It is with deep regret that we report the death of Mrs. Ann Foss Baldwin, which occurred at her home in Lyndonville, Monday morning, August 7, after a long illness. The deceased was born in Barton, June 21, 1841, the daughter of Selden and Roxan Wheeler Foss. She was united in marriage to Joseph Porter Baldwin, over fifty-one years ago, and all of her married life was spent in Barton. She was a woman of exceptionally strong character and one who was always interested in the best things in the community.

She was for many years a member of the W. C. T. U., and one of its most earnest workers; at one time a most efficient member of the board of trustees of Barton Academy, a great reader and of more than ordinary intellectual ability, her wise counsel was often sought. A kind neighbor and loyal friend, she will be missed by a large circle of friends, not only in Barton, where she had lived for so many years, but wherever she has been, for she was respected and loved by all who knew her. Mrs. Baldwin is survived by one sister, Mrs. Juliet Overmyer, of Seneca, Kansas, a brother, Mozart Foss, of Arlington, Mass., and three sons, George C., of Philadelphia, Charles C., of Keene, N. H., and Henry P., of this town. Funeral services were held from her late home in Lyndonville this morning at 10 o'clock and the remains were brought here on the noon train, and interment was in the family lot in Welcome O. Brown cemetery. A prayer service was held at the grave which was attended by many Barton friends.

A REAL COUNTY FAIR

The Orleans County fair to be held at Barton, August 22, 23 and 24, promises to be more nearly a real county fair than any event of its kind in recent years. Local exhibitors of cattle and all kinds of premium winning live stock express their expectation of coming to the fair to a greater extent than usual and this is the feature that particularly pleases many fair goers. The thrilling balloon act already announced is exciting considerable comment and the stage attractions that have been booked are far and away better than anything appearing on the grand stand stage of late. Another thing that is of particular interest is the baby contest. This is a contest for points of perfection in physical development in babies under one year of age and will be judged by competent but disinterested parties. Lateral cash prizes are made for the three winners. From every standpoint it is noted that this year's event promises to be more nearly a real old-fashioned fair than many of the recent fairs. The price remains 35 cents for single admissions.
